

Michael G. Sinkevich, Jr.

Lieberman Blecher & Sinkevich, P.C.

A shareholder at Liberman Blecher & Sinkevich, P.C., Michael practices in the environmental and land use areas with a focus on environmental litigation. In these fields, he assists business, individual, municipal, and non-profit clients in a wide range of matters concerning state and federal environmental statutes and regulations. He has had the opportunity to represent clients before New Jersey's Supreme Court, Appellate Division, and Trial Courts, and the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey. His Supreme Court experience includes successfully arguing Magic Petroleum Corp. v. Exxon Mobil Corp., 218 N.J. 390 (2014) and being the lead brief writer in Ben Elazar v. Macrietta Cleaners, Inc., 230 N.J. 123 (2017). In addition, Michael frequently represents a variety of clients before planning boards and zoning boards of adjustment throughout the State of New Jersey. His practice is concentrated on guiding clients through all aspects of environmental regulatory compliance in New Jersey and New York, with a particular focus on securing insurance coverage for remediation efforts.

Michael is a graduate of Albany Law School. Prior to law school, he graduated from Cornell University with a B.S. degree in biological and environmental engineering and a M.S. degree in environmental engineering with a focus on hydrogeology. He has also lectured at numerous seminars with the New Jersey Institute for Continuing Legal Education.

Bar Admissions:

New Jersey

New York

United States District Court, District of New Jersey

United States District Court, Southern District of New York

United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit

Professional Affiliations:

New Jersey State Bar Association – Environmental Law Section – Officer-at-Large

New York State Bar Association – Environmental Law Section

Princeton Bar Association